NO FATALITIES, DECLARES CHAMBERLIN MANAGER

Army Authorities Take Control of Burned Area, and Are Gathering Names of Guests.

OLD POINT COMFORT, VA., March 8.—George F. Adams, managor of the Chamberlin Hotel, at Old Point, which was burned to the ground last night, stated today that he is convinced that no one lost their life in the blaze. The site of the fannous hotel was a sholdering heap of ashes today and it was impossible to do any probing among the ruins. Authorities from Fort Mouroe are preparing to dynamite the remaining walls and chimneys this morning, fearing that they will fall. All attempts to determine the origin of the fire have proved fruitless. The binze started in the office of the house paysican or the ladles' hairdressing parlor.

binze started in the office of the house physician or the ladies' hairdressing parlor.

The huge hotel safe is buried beneath tons of red-hot ashes and the heat still is so intense that it is impossible to go near the debris. The safe is fireproof and most of the records of the hotel are locked in it.

Scores of homeless people, many of them among the most wealthy in the country, let today by train and boat for their homes.

The army authorities are in controls of the fire district. No one is allowed within the cordon of guards. The army information bureau is flooded with telegrams and telephone calls from all parts of the country. All the hotel speeds and help are registering with this bureau, and it is hoped in this way to obtain a complete check on them.

Losses of gowns and jewelry by guests were appailing. A late estimate gives the loss from that item alone as in excess of $1.000,000. Mrs. Schweinert, of New York, lost fully $100,000 in jewelry, while Mrs. Carence Kenyon, of New York, and Mrs. Oliver Bond, of Detroit, also were heavy losers.

Elect Delegates.

HARRISONBURG, March 7.—Republicans from Reckingham County and the city of Harrisonburg in convention here yesterday indorsed Congressman C. P. Slein, Siate Chairman Joseph L. Crupper, of Alexandria, and State Senzitor John Paul, of Rockingham, as three of the four delegates at large from Virginia to the national convention in Chicago next June. Delegates also were elected to the Seventh District Convention, which will meet in Woodstock, March 25, and to the State convention, which will meet in Roanoke, March 17. The convention heartily indorsed the work of the Republican State Committee, and particularly that of Charles A. Hammer, of Harrisonburg, State Secretary.

Charles M Keezle, former postmaster at Harrisonburg, made an effort of divorce the county and city organizations, but this effort was defeated overwhelmingly, and the present county organization was returned to power for the next two years without further opposition.

Wife Accepts Guilt.

NORFOLK, VA., March 8.—"I am the guilty one, not my husband." That's what Mrs. Louisa Watson told a party of Federal officers who raided her home and found a still and a quantity of "mash" ready to be distilled into booze. The Watsons live in Whaleyville, Va., a thriving little town in the County of Isie of Wight. The raiding party was headed by Revenue Agent Wagner, and when he found the still and other evidence of whisky making in the Watson bome he placed Henry Watson, the husband, under arrest.

It was then that Mrs. Watson said she was then that Mrs. Watson said she was the guilty one, and demanded that her husband, be-released, after the woman proved that if any law had been broken it was she who had broken it. Mrk. Watson was arrested, placed under bond and held for trial in the Federal court.

Many Methods Are Discussed, but Legion Committee and Congress Are Still at Odds.

[By Associated Press.] WASHINGTON, March 8. - How to obtain new sources of revenue so as to provide relief for former service men was discussed today by the House Ways and Means Committee with representatives of soldier organizations, but without common agreement as to the best and most practical methods.

All sorts of suggestions have been offered the committee in connection with its consideration of more than threescore bills. The problem has been more difficult, members pointed out, because of the conflicting views of the various organizations. There was the promise today that harmony of action might develop.

Colonel Lester E. Jones, commanding the District of Columbia Department, American Legion, announced that the obtain new sources of revenue so as
